The legal aid is very essential for the survival of healthy democracy which is founded on the basis of equality, dignity and worth of man as a valuable component of society. Legal Aid in modern legal, political and social theory is organically related to the urge of social justice. The concept of legal aid is the very spirit of equality and its movement is dedicated to the principle of equal justice to the poor. Equal justice of fair treatment within the purview of judicial process implies an easy access to courts and other governmental agencies on the basis of equality. Equal justice requires a systematic approach in response to the prevailing inequalities and injustices existing in our society. Legal aid is a vital limb of our Constitution and becomes, for this reason, an interpretative doctrine reflecting the desired fulfilment of the basic objectives of equality. The lawyer, as a part of a learned profession, has many obligations and duties of an honourable nature. Legal profession owes a moral and social obligation to the poor members of the society. The lawyers should take compassionate and humanitarian view in the present situation and galvanise their learning and professional skills to help the poor masses in our society. Again, legal services comprehend not only legal representation and assistance in litigation but also such other things as legal advice, arbitration, creation of legal awareness and assertiveness in the poor masses. Such actions can be accelerated if we utilise all possible human resources. The law students while learning in law school may render their services for the cause of the poor in the society, through Legal Aid clinics in law schools and universities. At present, legal aid is not a matter of charity but it can be claimed as a matter of right. The success of legal aid programme requires maximum participation by all persons- bar, bench and general public. Here the role of law courts, legal profession and law schools is very important. Thus, it is desirable that all persons connected with the administration of justice make vigorous efforts in this mass movement.

Write a précis of the following passage.

Virgil's masterful and meticulously crafted poetry earned him a legacy as the greatest poet in the Latin language. Throughout the Middle Ages and into the Renaissance, his fame only grew. Before the invention of the printing press, when classical texts, transmitted by the hands of scribes, were scarce, Virgil's poetry was available to the literate classes, among whom he was regarded as the most significant writer of antiquity. He inspired poets across languages, including Dante in Italian, Milton in English, and an anonymous French poet who reworked the Aeneid into the medieval romance Le Roman d'Eneas. In what became a Christian culture, Virgil was viewed as a pagan prophet because several lines in his works were interpreted as predictions of the coming of Christ. Among writers of the Renaissance, Virgil was appreciated for the fluidity of his rigorously structured poetry and his vivid portrayals of human emotion.

Modern critics, on the other hand, have been less kind. Virgil's poetry is often judged in relation to that of his Greek predecessors, especially the Iliad and the Odyssey, epics attributed to Homer that also portray the Trojan War and its aftermath. Most contemporary scholars hold that Virgil's poetry pales in comparison to Homer's. Virgil himself often viewed his poetry in light of Homer's; he invoked, such comparisons within the Aeneid and wished to surpass the Greek poet, while still borrowing from him heavily. Virgil's poetry does not possess the same originality of expression as Homeric epic poetry. The Aeneid shares with the Iliad and the Odyssey a tone of ironic tragedy, as characters act against their own wishes, submit their lives to fate, and often meet dark ends. Most scholars agree that Virgil distinguished himself within the epic tradition of antiquity by representing the broad spectrum of human emotion in his characters as they are subsumed in the historical tides of dislocation and war.

Translate the following passage either in Marathi or in Hindi.

MacIver explained the difference between the state and the government and the organ and organization in an effective expression: "When we speak of the estate we mean the organization of which government is the administrative organ. Even organization must have a focus of administration, an agency by which its policies are given specific character and translated into action. But the organization is greater than the organ. In this sense the state is greater and more inclusive than its government. A state has a constitution, a code of laws, a way of setting up its government, a body of citizens...when we think of this whole structure we think of the state... Under these endlessly varied circumstances the habits pertaining to government, which at first were centered in the family and kin-circle, found a locus in the inclusive community
